PERFORMANCE UPDATE

October is traditionally a busy month for news, with many companies publishing their third quarter results. The news flow was further intensified by numerous macroeconomic developments. These included not only the lead-up to the US elections but also the weakening Chinese economy and its growing impact on Western companies' results. More often than not, companies reported weaker-than-expected results, particularly those with significant exposure to the Chinese market.

In response to this wave of news, virtually all major markets declined during October, with performance ranging from a -1.0% drop for the S&P 500 to -3.5% for the EuroStoxx 50. Also, most currencies weakened against the Euro, with the exception of the US$.

Citadel posted a return of -2.0% in September. Signify (+6%) and MPAC Group (+9%) made the largest positive contributions to the Fund's performance, while American Eagle Outfitters (-10%) and Kering (-11%) were the biggest detractors. Since inception, Citadel has delivered a return of +144%.

PORTFOLIO NEWS

After a strong share price performance in September, American Eagle Outfitters (US based apparel retailer) surprisingly was October's largest detractor. There was not a lot of company specific news, nor does it have any China exposure. The company is still on track delivering double digit earnings growth for this year and the stock is trading at an attractive double-digit free cash flow yield.

Citadel benefited from a positive share price movement in MPAC Group shares. This UK-based packaging machinery provider announced a significant acquisition of CSi Palletising, a Netherlands-based provider of end-of-line packaging and palletising solutions. The acquisition makes both strategic and financial sense, propelling combined annual revenue towards £200m. A share placement to partially finance the deal was well received by the market.
